

KETTLE KILLED

A Fatal Shooting Affair To-day in Licking County

Officers From Newark Hurried to the Scene

After a Desperate Struggle Bert Nash Was Captured at His Father's Home--Shooting Occurred on Street of Appleton Monday Morning.

APPLETON, O., MARCH 21.—(3:10 P. M.)—ALBERT KETTLE, WHO WAS SHOT THIS MORNING BY BERT NASH, DIED THIS AFTERNOON AT 3 O'CLOCK. IT WAS THOUGHT AT FIRST THAT HE WOULD RECOVER.

NASH IS BEING HELD AT HIS FATHER'S HOME, AWAITING THE ARRIVAL OF SHERIFF ANDERSON FROM NEWARK.

IT IS NOW CLAIMED THAT NASH AND KETTLE HAD TROUBLE ABOUT A YEAR AGO AND THAT THE SHOOTING TODAY WAS THE RESULT OF THAT OLD DISPUTE, THE NATURE OF WHICH IS NOT KNOWN. ON THE OTHER HAND, FRIENDS OF NASH CLAIM THAT HE WAS INSANE AND THAT THERE WAS REALLY NO MOTIVE FOR THE SHOOTING.

Bert Nash shot and seriously wounded Albert Kettle in the village of Appleton, Bennington township, northeast of Johnstown Monday morning.

Nash has been captured and is being held till officers arrive from Newark.

Special dispatches to the Advocate give the following account of the affair.

Bert Nash is a man about 35 years of age with a wife and two children living about three-quarters of a mile east of Appleton. Albert Kettle, who is 37 years of age, is unmarried. The men were seen walking along the street Monday morning about 8:30 o'clock and Kettle says they were talking about the erection of a fence. Nash had asked Kettle to build a fence on the former's place and Mr. Kettle had agreed to do so. While they were talking of the work Mr.

Kettle says, that Nash drew a 22 calibre pistol from his pocket and without warning fired three shots at him.

One shot took effect in the right side of Kettle's face, knocking out one tooth. Another shot penetrated Kettle's left hand and the third shot struck the victim above the right hip but glanced upward and struck a rib.

As soon as Nash began to fire Kettle, who was unarmed, ran into the house of Mrs. Martha Wilson, a woman who is about 80 years of age. Running into the house he barely had time to close the door when Nash was at his heels. The aged woman tried to assist Mr. Kettle in barring the door, but the aged woman and the man suffering from three pistol wounds were unable to resist Nash's effort to enter the house. Mr. Nash broke into the house, Mrs. Wilson was knocked down but was not seriously hurt. The

The infare which followed the wedding 50 years ago, had a counterpart in the reception given Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer by Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fulton on Sunday evening at their home west of Newark.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer are in the best of health and it is hoped that they will live to celebrate many anniversaries of their wedding.

WELSH TROOPS IN REVOLT

Officers Were Unable to Restrain Soldiers

Pillaged Houses and Terrorized People Over Circuit of Two Miles in South Africa

London, March 21.—A Johannesburg dispatch to the Express today says that a battalion of Welsh regiment numbering 600 men was in open mutiny Saturday at Ilwrick, Natal. The battalion was on the way from Pretoria to Durban for embarkation. The officers had tried to maintain discipline, but the men got entirely out of hand. They carried their arms into Ilwrick, raided the drinking bars and stores and drove the town folk before them. There were wild scenes of rioting and soon there were forty-one casualties. The mutiniers spread over a circuit of two miles, taking possession of houses, pillaging and terrorizing the people. A telegram was sent to Pietermaritzburg for help and the commander there dispatched a battalion of troops with two Maxim guns to restore order. The war office here says that it has no information on the subject.

LYNCHED BY A TEXAS MOB

Railway Men Murdered by Negroes.

The mob is searching for other negroes and great excitement prevails.

There will also be individual matches, regimental skirmish team matches, rapid fire matches and regimental company team matches.

ALARM CLOCKS NOT NEEDED.

Washington, March 21.—Alarm clock and sleeping potions can soon be abolished, for Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture, has imported some cabot-bois, or "wood kids," which will take the place of both.

The "wood kid" is a little insect having a ground plan quite similar to the katydid, but the sounds it utters are like those of a bell.

The "wood kid" frequents the homes of the natives of the French West Indies. Its home, and it promptly at 7:30 o'clock each evening, as darkness falls begins drawing its legs and wings over its body, causing a tuneful, purring noise more potent than opium.

A mountain of about 1,900 feet high and 10 miles in circumference has been discovered in China.

Declares Judge Parker is the Man to Be Nominated.

Binghamton, N. Y., March 21.—Former Senator David B. Hill has broken his silence on the coming presidential campaign and declares that if Judge Parker gets New York the worry will be over. Said Mr. Hill:

"It is time there is a change. We hear talk of Cleveland but Mr. Cleveland is not a candidate. He is an excellent man but don't let the cry of Cleveland divert you from the main issue. Judge Parker is a clean, honest man with a splendid record. There is not another man in the state that can go the people with the labor question as he can. Don't worry about Parker. In National affairs he is all right. What we want is to look out for him in New York state and if Parker gets New York state, don't worry about what will happen afterward."

During the famine in Ireland he contributed large sums to the relief of the stricken people. Grace was born in Queens-town, Ireland, May 10, 1832. His wealth is estimated at many millions.

TO COMPEL

A Young Married Woman to Return to School is a Task That is Here Undertaken.

Irwin, Pa., March 21.—To compel a married woman to go to school under the compulsory school act is the task that Superintendent J. S. Best of the North Huntingdon township schools has assigned to himself, and he says that he will appeal to the courts to help him out. The case is unique.

Attending school at Ardara up to a few days ago was Anna Padula, a bright Italian girl of 11 years. Her attendance ceased and Superintendent Best called at the Padula home. The mother said Anna would "go no more to school, as she was married to Antonio Brezzia." The bride stated that her husband had gone to West Virginia and would return in a few days, and they would then go to housekeeping.

SMALL BOY

SET HOUSE ON FIRE AND WAS CREMATED.

It Is Thought His Act Was Prompted Out of Revenge on the Landlord.

Cleveland, O., March 21.—James Johnson, 6 years old, was burned to death Sunday under circumstances which seem to indicate that the boy met his death through his own act, it being the opinion of the firemen and police that Johnson set the house on fire in a spirit of revenge because his father and mother and other members of the family were about to be evicted because of the refusal of the landlord to let them remain in the house longer, notwithstanding they were able to pay their rent.

The body of the Johnson boy was found in the room where he had been last seen curled up at the side of two playmates, two and five years old, both of whom were unconscious, but were resuscitated at the hospital and are probably out of danger. The three children were overlooked during the excitement incident to the rescue of an old woman in one of the rooms of the house.

RUSSIAN ATTACK

Quickly Repulsed Says Dispatch from Tokio

Chinese Prohibit the Sale of Provisions to Russia

Czar Trying to Induce the Czar to Apply to Powers for a Declaration Making a Treaty Port and Liao Bank Neutral Territory.

Tokio, March 21.—A dispatch says that a force of Russians, composed of 7,500 Cossacks and several batteries of horse artillery made a dash on the Japanese line between Ping Yan and Wiju. They opened fire on the outposts, but reinforcements were hurried forward and the Russians quickly retired. The report states that the Japanese force merely deployed into line but did not reply to the Russians' fire.

Port Arthur, March 21.—In view of the unfavorable harvest in Shan Tung province, the Chinese authorities there have issued a proclamation prohibiting the sale or export of grain or provisions to Russia, under the threat of severe punishment.

Manchester, Eng., March 21.—The Guardian learns today that Russia is energetically trying to induce China to apply to the powers for a declaration making the treaty port of Niu Chwang and both banks of the Liao river from the sea to the port neutral territory. Russia has promised, in event of such a declaration, to withdraw from Niu Chwang altogether.

So far, says the paper, China has refused to take any steps in the matter and it is considered that even if she did Great Britain and America would do nothing to help close this port which is one of the gates by which Japan can enter Manchuria.

London, March 21.—The Chifu correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company today wires that a Chinese squadron consisting of four cruisers and commanded by Admiral Tsah, arrived there yesterday. It is understood, he says, that the squadron will proceed to Niu Chwang when the ice clears.

Connellsville, Pa., March 21.—During the past two months, because business was slack here, and work scarce, a number of Russians went to Russia on vacations. Many of these who left their families here have been drafted into service in the Russian army, according to the last mails, and their families here are abandoned. Several families are reported to be destitute.

UNITED STATES TO AID OF JAP. NON-COMBATANTS

Ambassador McCormick to Ask Russia to Cease Indignities to Non-Combatants--Instructions Have Been Sent to St Petersburg--Story of Brutality.

Washington, March 21.—Russia will be asked by the United States to treat kindly the Japanese non-combatants who have been left in Siberia, and to enable them to make their way back to Japan. Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister, called at the state department and informed the officials that he had received reports that between 40 and 50 Japanese non-combatants were in a suffering condition in several Siberian towns.

The minister requested the Washington government to use its good offices to assist the suffering Japanese to reach Berlin, where the Japanese minister will take charge of them. The state department acted promptly and a cablegram has been sent to Mr. McCormick, the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, inviting him to call the attention of the imperial government to the matter in the confident hope that the Russian officials will take immediate steps for the relief of the Japanese.

To a correspondent Mr. Takahira said: "I was not at the state department Friday, nor at Secretary Hay's residence, but I was at the department Saturday, and handed Mr. Leomis, the assistant secretary of state, a note requesting the United States Government to use its good offices to see that the Japanese residents in Siberia who are destitute and desire to return home shall be sent to Berlin, where my colleague there will take charge of them.

telegram received here reporting that two Japanese subjects who arrived at Berlin a few days ago, from the interior of Siberia, as delegates from a large number of Japanese still living there, reported to him that they were boycotted and not only had they found it impossible to earn any living, but were in constant danger of life, and consequently were suffering great privation. In some towns it was said they were ordered by the police authorities to leave the place at a moment's notice, without time to take their effects with them. We have therefore decided to have them sent to Japan.

"Just think how Russians are treated in Japan. You never hear any complaint by them against the Japanese authorities and people. On the contrary it was reported from Chemulpo that when the bodies of two Russian sailors were recovered from the wreck of the Vang, the sailors of Japanese men-of-war buried them with military honors and many residents of the Japanese towns at the port went to the graves to bow out of respect for their honorable death.

"I do not mean to expect of the country and people at war with us anything unusual, but I sincerely hope that they will show at least some moderation in the treatment of those innocent, but unfortunate, sufferers, not only for their sake, but for the sake of the good name of that great empire as one of the civilized countries."

The minister spoke earnestly, but without excitement.

And the enthusiasm is not limited to our Japanese people. The Chinese residents and Koreans are equally eager to help us. Son King Hung of Kawanaguchi, Kobe, contributed 1,900 yens, and Go King Don of Osaka 2,000 yens. The Chinese in Yokohama are going to move together for collecting a war contribution. Ili Sho Keng, a Korean of Kioto, contributed 10,000 yens, and another Korean sent the Japanese government 2,000 yens without telling his name. And the report from Peking and Seoul says that the money collecting movement is going on rapidly there also.

The other day the Japanese government issued the first 100,000,000 yen of war bonds. In Tokyo alone the amount reached 40,000,000 yens. Before the war some foreigners were skeptical as to where Japan could get filled with floating ice, the perils of this undertaking can hardly be overestimated.

JAPANESE TORPEDO BOAT IN WINTER OFF PORT ARTHUR.

Vice Admiral Ito, who commanded Weihsuiwei, tells of a boat's crew that perished rather than admit its failure to duty to which it had been assigned. It was in February, and the cold was intense. In the midst of a storm and darkness the crew set out on its errand, but never returned, as the men were found frozen in the boat.

When Ito's torpedo flotilla entered the harbor of Weihsuiwei, on the night of Feb. 6, 1886, boat No. 9 deserted the flotilla and went on a search on her own account. She reached the Chinese ships unobserved and discharged a torpedo at the Ting Yuen, sinking her. She was pursued by gunboats, and her engine room was riddled, four engineers being killed. The boat was helpless and the crew prepared for a suicidal suicide rather than fall in the hands of the Chinese. Fortunately, they were rescued by another boat of their flotilla before the Chinese reached them. Such are the men who man the mikado's fleets.

Whereas, in 1873, it was estimated that 40 per cent of the cotton crop of the South was produced by whites and 60 per cent by negroes, it is now claimed that the whites produce 60 per cent and the blacks but 40 per cent. This Southern men say, indicates that the South must look to foreign immigration to supply it with labor, if its cotton crop is to be increased.

Talked About Birds.
Colonel Isaac Brown, of Indiana, gave a very interesting talk on birds at the high school this afternoon. He dwelt especially on the need of protecting them. He emphasized the fact that while the birds were killing the insects that they were saving many crops, and tried to induce the young people to protect the birds. The talk of Mr. Brown was attentively listened to and will, no doubt, result in much good.

Mr. Williams Improves.
Miss Minnie Williams, who was called to Washington C. H. by the serious illness of her father, Hon. S. S. Williams, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Tanney, has returned home. She says that her father has taken a change for the better and that there has been a marked improvement in his condition during the past two days. This will be pleasing news to his many Newark friends. Sunday was the sixty-eighth anniversary of Mr. Williams' birth, and he seemed greatly pleased when reminded of the fact.

The report comes from Berlin that the German steel trust has initiated measures to come to terms with the American steel trust to divide the markets of the world. Both trusts are protected by a high tariff, and if they combine their forces the steel consumers of the world will have to pay such bills as the combination may decide to charge them.

The department of commerce and labor has sent out agents from Washington to Chicago and other Western points to investigate the operations of the beef trust and to ascertain, if possible, the reason why the cattle owners are getting such small prices while the consumers are compelled to pay such high ones. The work will be watched with interest by the great army of consumers everywhere. The new department has an opportunity to prove its usefulness in this matter which its officials should not neglect. Its report, if the investigation is conducted properly, should throw much light upon a subject which has been worrying a large number of people, and should pave the way to better things for both the beef producer and the beef consumer.

The heedless course of extravagance on which the country has entered in the isthmus canal gets a fair illustration as a starter in the way the money has taken to itself wings in some of the preliminaries. Congress appropriated $1,000,000 to defray the expenditures of the first commission, which was one of observation and inquiry. All this has been expended in three months' work by the nine old gentlemen engaged in discussing the question of feasibility, and they further report a deficiency of $70,000—the total expenditures reaching $1,070,000. Some of the commissioners took European trips and spent a holiday season in Paris. The accounts of the commission were never audited, and the accounting officers are in the dark how the $1,070,000 was gotten away with. Of course, What else could have been expected? There was no principal of wise or prudent administration in the expenditure of the money, other than that of "easy come, easy go." It is to be feared that this system of waste and plunder may govern the expenditure of the millions the government has voted in lump sums to the republic of Panama and the French canal company to advance the canal enterprise. There seems to be no system of checks and accountability. The canal will probably develop ideas never before heard of in the use of public money. Millions voted in lump sums are likely to be expended or absorbed in lump sums. This is a country of boundless wealth, and the wealth is used after the ways of Monte Cristo.

FIGHTING

WILL BE THIS WEEK'S ORDER IN LEGISLATURE.

Brannock Local Option Bill and the Canal Bill Will Come Up for Passage.

Columbus, March 21—This week promises much strenuous fighting in the legislature. Tuesday the Brannock local option bill come up as a special order in the House and both the Anti-Saloon and Liquor forces will marshal all possible strength to the issue. The temperance element won a decisive victory upon the adoption of the majority report, but the brewery agents are talking with the confidence that they will be able to spring a surprise when it comes to the final vote. This is doubtful and the prospects are for the passage of the bill, as once it goes through the house there will be little opposition in the Senate.

The canal bill is set for a special order on Thursday afternoon and there is a growing belief that the measure will pass the House. No influence is being overlooked that can be used to secure support for this measure and some of the earlier opponents of the bill are switching. Monday evening, providing he can get recognition from the speaker, Representative Little, of Green, will offer a minority report that will declare the bill a bit of vicious legislation and outline wherein it is most dangerous. He will probably fail to get recognition.

MAGAZINE FOR ART LOVERS.
In addition to the unusually liberal profusion of illustrations which appear in The Booklovers Magazine for April, there are certain features in the Art Section which will make a special appeal to artists and lovers of art. In this section will be found beautiful reproductions, in color, of five of the most notable pictures by American artists recently exhibited at the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh. Following this is an article on John W. Alexander, the portrait painter, accompanied by seven reproductions, in half-tone, of some of his more recent and characteristic work. The out-of-door girl is charmingly depicted by Mrs. Grace G. Wiederseim, who contributes three full-page drawings of her subject, reproduced in color. The delicate pen-and-ink work of Herbert Railton is shown to the utmost advantage in the illustrated article on "England's Moated Houses" by Oscar Parker.

DAN. DAUB

FORMER DENISON UNIVERSITY BALL PLAYER HURT.

Hands Caught in Paper Mill Machinery With Frightful Results at West Carrollton, O.

Word has been received from West Carrollton, O., that Daniel Daub, the former well known ball player, recently met with a severe accident while at work in a paper mill at that place. He was working in the parchment room, when the first finger of one hand was torn off and part of the thumb of the other hand mashed. It seems that he, with the assistance of two others, was placing a huge roll of paper, weighing 1200 pounds, into its shaft, and Daub had a hold on the end of the axle. When the roll was let down, his fingers were caught between the shaft and the axle, and one was torn off, taking a leader with it.

Dan Daub first achieved fame as a ball player by "pitching" Denison university's team into the state championship in 1890. A year or two afterward he entered the professional field, pitching for the Cincinnati Reds, for Brooklyn and other teams. Mr. Daub is well known in Newark and Granville and his many friends here will deeply regret the misfortune that has overtaken him.

Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by all druggists.

TOM D. EVANS

GRADUATES FROM ACADEMY OF DRAMATIC ARTS.

Newark Man Who is Sure to Make a Success of a Stage Career Now Visiting Here.

Mr. Tom D. Evans, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Evans, of North Fourth street, was graduated from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City last Thursday, having taken high honors in a large class.

Mr. Evans received a high school education in Newark, which was supplemented by a course of law in the Ohio State university law school, from which institution he was graduated and admitted to the bar soon after.

While attending the university he organized a dramatic society known as "The Strollers," which won a prize in competition with two other organizations in the presentation of a play. His success in this piece was instant and signal, and from that time dates his interest in the drama, and he decided to abandon the legal profession for a career on the stage. To this end he has devoted several years in careful preparation, which ended with his graduation last week.

Mr. Evans has many friends in Newark, who have every confidence in their prediction that he will make an unqualified success in the profession.

Mr. Evans will devote several days coaching "The Strollers" at Columbus and will then return for a visit with his parents.

Rule of Law.

Editors Advocate: Please give the rule of law relative to an abstract between the parties to a sale of real estate the seller obliged on demand of buyer to furnish abstract title?

ADVOCATE READER. No. The furnishing of an abstract of title is a matter of agreement between the parties to a sale of real estate. It does not convey any title or strengthen the title which is conveyed by the deed. If nothing is said about an abstract, and an agreement made for the giving of one with the deed, all that is necessary is the payment of the purchase price and the giving of a deed. It is purely a matter of contract, aside from that of the bargain and sale of the property.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

But a few months ago the whole Middle West rang with news of the exploit of brave Officer Charles Timberlake; perhaps the only officer who ever levied on a loaded gun in the hands of a quick shot. Timberlake is noted through the Ohio Valley for his bravery and endurance. He writes:

Cincinnati, Feb. 5th, 1904—"I have gained in weight since I began taking Paine's Celery Compound. It gives me strength and vitality, makes me eat well and sleep well and keeps the nerve system in good condition. Since I began its use I have been stronger and healthier than I have been in years."—Charles Timberlake, Court of Magistrate Dumont.

Congressmen Visit Site of First Anglo-Saxon Settlement in America

Newport-News, Va., March 21.—A party of 150 members of Congress, as guests of the Jamestown Exposition company, made a pilgrimage to Jamestown island and viewed the historic ruins that mark the spot of the first Anglo-Saxon settlement of the Western hemisphere. The party also visited the foundations of the building in which the first legislative body of America held its first session.

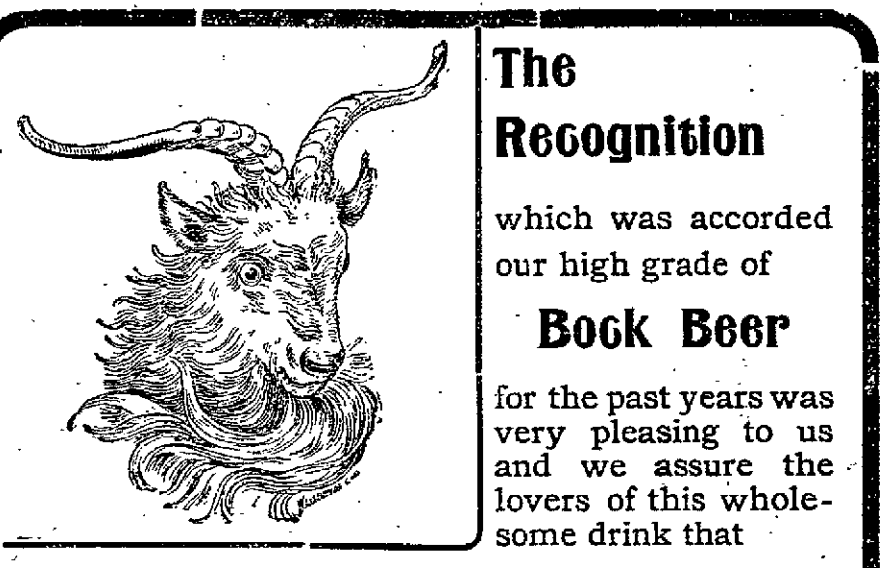

The object of the pilgrimage was to arouse interest among the Congressmen in the exposition to be held on the shores of Hampton Roads in 1907, to celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of the first settlement. After leaving Jamestown the Congressmen visited Newport News and inspected the battleship Virginia, which will be launched April 5, and then crossed Hampton Roads to the Norfolk navy yard.

FINE ADDRESS

GIVEN BY PRESIDENT HUNT AT PLYMOUTH CHURCH.

Splendid Music by Prof. Irwin and Chorus of Male Voices at the Sunday Meeting.

Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of Denison university, Granville, delivered a fine address on Sunday at the closing meeting of the series of union evangelistic meetings that have been held in the various churches of the city for some time past. The meeting was held in Plymouth Congregational church at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the large auditorium was completely filled with an audience to hear the distinguished speaker. Secretary A. A. Ebersole, of the Y. M. C. A., conducted the meeting in his usual interesting manner. Several of the local ministers of the city were seated on the platform. There was some fine music by a chorus of trained male voices, led by Mr. Ebersole, in addition to which Prof. Irwin, a graduate of the Conservatory of the Ohio Northern university, who has just located in Newark in his profession of music, favored the audience with two beautiful solos. Prof. Irwin has a splendid baritone voice and full of pathos, and his singing was much appreciated by the large audience.

The subject of Dr. Hunt's address was, "Prayer as the Power with God," and he dwelt very forcibly upon some of the conditions precedent to make prayer a power with God. Prayer must be humble; it must be sincere; it must proceed from a heart that sincerely discards sin. If it would succeed as a power with God. When a man prays in a spirit of self-glory as did the Pharisees of old—when a man prays, touching and cherishing a known sin in his inmost heart, his prayers will fail—they will not be heard, much less answered. They will be "cut down" at the throne of God. The address was a masterly effort, sustaining the high reputation of the speaker as a pulpit orator, and will undoubtedly be productive of much good.

Quite a number of the members of the local branch of the National Order of Railway Clerks met in O. R. C. hall on Sunday night, where they listened to a fine address by James V. Cars Off Track.
Several cars on a Baltimore and Collision in Columbus.

B. & O. Detective Force

S. Kirk Hales, of Newark, of the B. & O. detective force, was in the city. Mr. Hales states that the company is getting along very well with the reduced detective force and is experiencing no more trouble with law breakers than when it had more than triple the present number of detectives employed. After they become accustomed to the new regime, he says, matters will probably run as smoothly as ever.—Mansfield Shield.

PLANS TO PREVENT PASSAGE OF THE LOCAL OPTION BILL.

Change in the Constitution Part of the Scheme by Which Plenary Powers
Will Be Conferred.

Columbus, O., March 21.—There is a plan on foot whereby it is hoped to avert the passage of the district local option bill at the last moment. This bill is on the calendar of the House of Representatives for tomorrow afternoon, and there seems to be little question that it will be passed decidedly and sent to the Senate.

It is in the upper body that the liquor interests expect to make their last determined effort. Four years ago they stopped the Clark local option measure there, winning by one vote after defeat seemed certain.

One of those interested in the matter, who recently returned from Washington, today stated that the plan of action decided upon was the proposing of a constitutional amendment, conferring plenary power upon cities, townships and counties to license and regulate the traffic.

Such an amendment was offered to the General Assembly in 1882, but it was not adopted. By this plan each community would be able to regulate the liquor traffic in its own way.

It was said that Senator Foraker favors this method of action as one that will be final. It is known that certain senators several weeks ago looked up the records of the session of 1882 and secured copies of the amendment named above. This is taken as corroborative evidence that the Washington tip is quite authentic.

Temperance people who have been watching this angle say that it is simply a play for delay, and is not made sincerely.

Like the Ricketts amendment providing for annual elections, which was a cloak for the Chapman bill, they say that the proposed license amendment will simply be an excuse to wear temperance senators from their allegiance.

Those having knowledge of the inside of the program for the coming Republican state convention assert that Senator-elect Charles Dick will not be permanent chairman of that body. The matter came up at the meeting with Chairman John B. Clingerman during his visit here, and at that time Senator-elect Dick stated that he had no wish to be honored with the chairmanship. It is said that the deal will be to make the temporary organization permanent, thus continuing Governor Herrick as the chairman and John R.
Malloy as the secretary.

One of the most wonderful railroads in the world is that in Peru, which runs from Callao to the Cerro de Pasco gold fields. It is 78 miles in length, and rises in that distance to an altitude of 15,645 feet. There is not an inch of down grade on the trip up. Between seven and eight thousand persons died or were killed during the construction of the road.

The trans-Atlantic steamers are regaining the business they lost during the period of depression in the 90's.
In 1891 one hundred and fifty thousand and cabin passengers were landed in New York. That was the high record until last year, when the cabin passengers numbered 161,438. In 1891 there were 447,000 steerage passengers, last year the lines carried to New York in the steerage 612,358 passengers.

THE DERELICT

(Original.)

I made my strike in the detective business in a very singular way. I was sent to England to follow up a slew which might expedite an extradition case. Two days before reaching port we came upon a derelict. No outlet as at first supposed her to be a derelict, for she appeared to be perfectly seaworthy. Some of her foremast were set and caught the breeze, but there was no one on deck, not even at the tiller. After hailing her repeatedly without answer our captain sent a boat to her, and I secured permission to go along.

She proved to be the brigantine Martha Conner of Liverpool. There was not a sign of her having struck a rock, collided or passed through a storm.
Both hull and rigging were in good order. Within, all was shipshape. The only thing wanting to a ship in commission was an adequate supply of provisions. In one of the staterooms was a guitar and sheets of music on a table; also a sewing basket containing scissors, needles, thimbles, etc. The log had been kept regularly until Aug.
10, when the ship was off Newfoundland, with not an unusual entry, but after that date there was no record.

The captain ordered a prize crew aboard the Martha Conner, and I remained with them, determined to discover the cause of her abandonment.
As soon as we were pointed for the British coast I began to study every possible clue, but at the end of two days the matter was as mysterious to me as when I boarded the vessel.

On the morning of the third day I was standing on deck before a small cabin used for the chartroom when I noticed some scratches on a glass window that looked like letters. I drew nearer and read, written with a diamond, doubtless set in a ring, the words, "Ellen Dexter shut up, here, Aug. 4." They were written more like scratches than words, doubtless to avoid attracting the attention of whoever had made the woman a prisoner.
Here was a beginning. Eagerly I hunted through the room in search of a further clue, but found nothing. Indeed that little sentence was all there was aboard the ship to indicate the nature of what had occurred. The same day we made port, and I reluctantly went ashore.

Upon inquiry I learned that no member of the crew of the Martha Conner had ever turned up. By consulting the record of missing ships I discovered not only that the Martha Conner had not been heard from, but that the Penguin, a small schooner that had sailed from Boston for Havre on the 7th of August, was also missing. It occurred to me that there might be some connection between the two cases.

I advertised widely in England for information of relatives of Ellen Dexter and received a reply from a man living in York asking the cause of my inquiry, stating that Ellen Dexter, his daughter, a girl of twenty, had sailed in the Martha Conner two years before for America, and neither the vessel nor the girl had ever been heard from. He wrote hoping that I had information to impart. I went to York to meet him and learned only what he had written.
Mr. Dexter was a tradesman with some accumulation of property and was ready to spend it all to prosecute the case. I saw little hope, but agreed on my return to America to stop at Newfoundland.

Having finished my business in England, I took a steamer for Nova Scotia and on arriving there went to a point on the coast a hundred miles south, as nearest to the reckoning laid down in the log of the Martha Conner. Proceeding along the coast, I made constant inquiries for Ellen Dexter. I did not find any one who had ever heard of her by name, but I did find a village where the people reported that the day after the date entered on the log of the Martha Conner a young woman came ashore in a boat. She was crazed with the trouble through which she had passed and had been sent to a public asylum for the insane.

I went to the insane asylum and found a young woman who could remember nothing of her past. She was however, well except in this respect.
I called her Ellen Dexter, and her face lighted up. I had succeeded.

I wrote Mr. Dexter, who came for her and took her home. She finally recovered her memory and told the following story, or all of it that came back to her impaired memory:

The captain was weak; the first mate a fiend. He made the crew believe that they were badly treated and led them into mutiny. They killed the captain and put the first mate in his place. What to do with Ellen Dexter, the only woman aboard, was a puzzle.
They confined her in the chartroom, and she expected to be put out of their way by murder. The men soon realized that they had placed their necks in a halter. Meeting the schooner Penguin, they took possession of her and, deserting their own ship, a slow sailer, sailed for unfrequented seas. They forced the crew of the Penguin to join them and kept them in their service for several years. They had not so soon become sufficiently hardened to crime to kill a woman directly, so they put Miss Dexter in a boat, expecting her to die a worse death indirectly.

The owners of the Martha Conner, the British government and others offered me a large sum to find the mutineers and bring them to justice. I succeeded in doing so, but how I got on their track and nabbed them is a strange story as this one needs to be told by itself. I found them on the China coast making a living as pirates. With the aid of a United States gunboat I captured them, took them to England, and every man was executed.

wants of visitors in the way of rooming accommodations. It has secured option to several thousand furnished rooms in St. Louis hotels and first-class private residences. All are inspected by a representative of the bureau.
None but clean, first-class rooms in most desirable districts are accepted.

The M. & K. T. ticket agent at each city and station on its line are prepared to secure reservations in advance. "Katy" ticket agents will explain the plan. This arrangement no doubt will prove popular.

Those desiring accommodations should apply as far in advance as possible, as it will be difficult to reserve rooms on short notice.

An office of the bureau will be maintained near the Union station, St.
Louis, at which quarters an efficient corps of clerks and uniformed messengers will be on hand to direct visitors to their rooms. The bureau will be prepared to furnish guides, chaperones, messengers, also cabs and automobiles to carry visitors to their quarters and express service for the transfer of baggage at reasonable rates. This will be recognized at once to be of special value to strangers and ladies without escorts.

"Katy's" ticket agents will be glad to give full information or you may write to George Morton, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, M. & K. T.
Ry., St. Louis.

"And the Next Day it Rained"

But the man with our Rain Coat laughed a merry laugh. He did not care how hard it rained, for water could not touch him. And, besides, he knew that even if it did not rain his Rain Coat was ready for evening wear to the theatre or any other place where people wish to look well.

Those Rain Coats are made from absolutely rain proof cloth in attractive mixtures and solid colors and cut in the long, full back, with broad shoulders.
